J. J. Bolin Dies From Operation

Came to Lehi From South Carolina in 1891, Was Progenitor of Large Family.

James J. Bolin died in a Salt Lake hospital Monday evening, after undergoing an operation early in the day. He never fully rallied after the operation. For two years Mr. Bolin has been suffering from a growth in the bladder. For the past several months his case has been known to be very serious, and at last in the hope of saving his life, an operation was decided on, but when the operation revealed the nature of the ailment, no hope for his recovery was entertained.

Mr. Bolin was born in York County, South Carolina, June 17, 1852. Twenty-six years ago he was baptized a member of the Mormon church and on March 14, 1891, landed in Lehi with his family. He resided here for eleven years. He then moved to Idaho, where he took up a homestead and resided for five years. The following six years were spent in Biggs and Gridley, Cal., returning with his wife to Lehi on the 17th of last June, stating that in Lehi was the place he desired to lay down his bones.

Mr. Bolin was a farmer during most of his life. In South Carolina, where he joined the church, his home was always the home and headquarters for the Elders. Eliza Peck, Sr., resided at the Bolin home when on his mission. He many times guarded the Elders from mobbing. He was a faithful Latter Day Saint. After coming to Utah, at Highland he was both Superintendent of Sunday Schools and President of the branch. In Biggs, Cal., he was Superintendent of the Sunday School.

He had three wives successively and reared a large family. Mrs. Elizabeth J. Wilson, his third wife and whom he married 31 years ago, still survives him. He also leaves twelve children and 31 grand children Robert and Hampton, by his first wife, Eliza Clark, lives in Idaho. Mrs. Eliza Gray, whose mother was Amanda Allen, lives in Lehi. His present wife's children are Mrs. Bessie Evans of Preston Idaho, Geo. Bolin of Teton, Idaho, W. H. Bolin of Biggs, Cal., Mrs. Mary Larson of Malad, Idaho, Mrs. Mary E. Prothers of Gridley, Cal., Jos. B. Bolin of Biggs, Cal., Mrs. Florence Barton of Sheridan, Oregon, and three now living at home named Lucy, Irving and Victorine.

Most of the children in Utah and Idaho were present at the funeral, which was held in the Tabernacle at 2 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. Jos. Anderson of the First ward Bishopric presided and made remarks. Among the others present and who made addresses were Wm. Catmull of Salt Lake City, Geo. Burgess of Alpine and Geo. Kirkham of Lehi, who were closely associated with Mr. Bolin in a church capacity, either at home or in the missionary field.

Royal Is Its Name

The contest for a name for the new State street show house has come to an end, and the judges, after several day's deliberation, have decided that its name shall be "Royal." Four people, Mrs. Sarah Austin, Linden Fowler, Mrs. Joseph Kirkham and Jesse Russon all suggested the same name and will have the tickets divided among them.

Several hundred names were submitted and it required over one hour for the committee to read them. Almost every name imaginable was among the list. "Ideal" probably led the list with "Empress" as a close second. Among the others were "Wendell," "Pecora," suggested by People's Co-op. Inst., "Upton," "Sig," complimentary to Mr. S. I. Goodwin. There are so many excellent slogans to choose from that the choice will not be made till next week.

If the seats were here, the theatre could be made ready for occupancy within ten days. However, no word has yet been received regarding the shipment of the seats, so the date of opening yet remains indefinite. Artist Salisbury continues to paint the scenery which is the most artistic ever seen here.

Making Steady Growth

Notwithstanding stories that certain unprincipled parties are telling for selfish purposes, the LEHI BANNER is growing rapidly. It has not only been established longer than any other paper in Utah county, but it has a larger list of subscribers, whether real or fictitious, than any other paper either in this city or in the entire county. This issue, not counting any sample copies, goes to nearly 2,500 homes.

Many people tell us that we not only have the largest subscription list of any country weekly in Utah, but we are also getting out a paper containing more news than any other country weekly in the state.

This is the only twelve page weekly in the state, which has been made necessary because of our large advertising patronage—business men realizing that if they want to reach the most people, either in Lehi or the north end of Utah county, they must advertise in the columns of the LEHI BANNER.

During the past three weeks we have lost three subscribers, but without any unusual efforts, have added fifty-one new ones, the following being on the honor list:

Vernon Anderson, Ruben King, H. C. Nelson, Anna Stoddart, Melvin Smith, Richard Smith, B. A. Turner, Julia Bushman, Edward Cox, John Magin, Reltuc Inn, Richard Norman, Ernest Russon, Fred Peterson, C. W. Earl, N. P. Sorrenson, Morgan Lott, Mrs. Jane Brown, Mrs. Jos. A. Thomas, Lyman Losee, George Davis, Wm. Asher, N. A. Brown, Asa J. Clark, Samuel Gough, C. N. Holmes, Heber Bennion, A. E. Marshall, N. P. Johnson, W. D. Fitzgerald, J. W. Clark, J. D. Gray, Joseph Broadbent, A. J. Anderson, L. Raymond, Eugene Briggs, George Mason, C. F. Gilbert, Arthur Knudson, J. T. Powell, Harwood Burch, J. E. Gari, Fred Harwood, Charles Herron, Abe Mayberry, J. E. Ross, R. E. Martin, David Roberts, Joseph Roberts and Miss N. Whalley and Abraham Anderson.

This list, in spite of the fact, that the paper was already going in to most of the homes of Lehi.

DISTINGUISHED REBECCAS VISIT LEHI LODGE

Mrs. Gertrude McClure of Tremonton, President of the Rebecca State Assembly, Mrs. Clara I. Moore, secretary, and Mrs. Mary E. Sudheimer and Mrs. Sarah A. Hadley, officers, attended the meeting of the Ivy Rebecca lodge last Thursday evening. An enthusiastic meeting was held. While here they were guests of Mrs. J. E. Cotter.

Primary Concert Tomorrow Night

The Primary Associations of the First and Second wards will give a concert in the Tabernacle tomorrow night. The teachers and children have been working earnestly and a fine program is promised.

Wrestling Carnival Excursion and Dance

Prominent Athletes From Wyoming, Salt Lake City and Utah County to Contest in Lehi Next Monday Night.

The people of Lehi have been wanting to see Alex Christofferson, the heavy weight wrestling champion of Utah county, in action. Monday night their desires will be granted when Lehi's pride will be pitted against Mike Sullivan, who aspires to become the heavy weight champion of the state. Sullivan weighs over two hundred pounds and has been victorious in all the recent bouts in which he has participated. Christofferson has also been coming up recently, and it is a pretty even bet which will be victorious. Both men have been training faithfully for some time. Christofferson at the Kirkham gym, and Sullivan in the wrestling quarters of the Salt Lake Fire Department. Many Salt Lake City fans will take advantage of the excursion and come down to see how their coming champion works out with Christofferson, who has gained an inter-mountain reputation. This will be the best match ever pulled off in Utah county.

The preliminary will be a match for the light weight championship, between Hank Webber, champion of Wyoming, and Dell Stewart of Benjamin, conceded to be the best light weight wrestler in Utah. This contest will be so interesting that it can hardly be called a preliminary, because of the prominence of the two men and the importance of the outcome. Webber has been doing some stunts at the Wizard of the Wasatch carnival this week. Stewart was the winner in the inter-collegiate meet and has taken Jack Street's place in the meet, because of the latter having been threatened with an attack of appendicitis. The change will add much more interest to the contest. Many will come from Provo to see Dell Stewart, because of his having won his laurels while a member of the B. Y. U. athletic squad.

Excursions on the Orem road will be run from both Salt Lake City and Provo and intermediate points, and a record crowd is expected. Because of there being a dance after the wrestling contest the first bout will commence at 7:30, soon after the arrivals of the trains. The tickets to the wrestling match will entitle the holder also to remain at the dance. There will be nothing about the exhibitions to prevent the attendance of ladies, and the roped arena will be so arranged that an immense crowd can be taken care of.

Because of the importance attached to the outcome of both events, some difficulty has been experienced in securing a referee acceptable to both parties. It will probably be Percy Jones, Provo's wrestling promoter, but if anything should interfere with his arrangement, Al Wilson, who is promoting the meet, has the assurance of the presence of Hardy Downing, who refereed the recent Yokle-Theeving bout.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION

The Republican Primary held at the Grammar school building last Saturday evening, elected the following delegates to the Congressional and State Conventions which meet in Salt Lake City next Monday and Tuesday.

Delegates:—W. K. Hopkins, James H. Gardner, Parley Austin, Heber C. Hart and Leonard Peterson. Alternates:—S. W. Ross, G. S. Peterson and Fred Merrill.

YOUNG BOYS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN POISONED

Last Monday, hurry up calls were sent to all the doctors in Lehi to save the lives of two boys, aged 12 and 14, who were thought to be poisoned. They were found by one of the boy's mothers lying in a ditch acting in a most unusual manner, and carried into the house. The doctors on arrival soon detected the smell of John Barbeycorn on their breaths and prescribed sleep and a few hours rest instead of the stomach pump. This remedy brought the boys around all right the next day. It appears that the boys had gotten hold of a bottle brought home by an older brother.

PLAYS GOOD BALL BUT LOOSES GAME

Lehi went to Spanish Fork Wednesday to play a league base ball game at the big home coming celebration. It was a good game and the score at the second half of the ninth innings stood 7 to 5 in favor of Lehi. A bad play on second base permitted two runs, a third one soon followed making the score 8 to 7 in favor of Spanish Fork. Street threw great ball and later behind the bat did good work. There were sports after the game and George Garff took in a $3.00 prize for winning the fat man's race.

Cows Afflicted With Peculiar Malady

It is reported that the people of Cedar Fort are practically without butter or milk owing to a disease that seems to have affected their horned stock. The cow's eyes will commence to water and then a white film grows over the pupils making them totally blind. It appears to be very contagious.

William Hacking's herd of eight were all affected. A handful of salt thrown in their eyes apparently effects a cure but the worry apparently lries up their milk.

The cows have been living on the Russian Thistles in the flat below town almost exclusively during the summer. Some think this may be the cause.

Government Investigates Cedar Valley Project

Project For Supplying Irrigation Water For Cedar Valley Lands May Be Undertaken By Government.

During the past week three United States government engineers employed in doing reclamation work, have been employed in making an examination of the feasibility of the government taking over the big Utah Conservation Project that contemplated storing the flood waters of Weber and Provo Rivers in a mammoth reservoir near Charleston, in Provo valley, and then conducting it through a long canal into Cedar Valley.

The government engineers, D. W. Murphy of Los Angeles, R. F. Walker of Denver, and J. L. Lytle of Provo, were banqueted at the Hotel Utah by W. W. Armstrong, O. C. Beebe, C. W. Nibley, John Dern and T. F. Allen, directors of the Utah Conservation Commission and the whole matter discussed in detail.

The engineers also went up to the head waters of Weber and Provo Rivers and personally inspected the supply and the reservoir sites. They were accompanied by Governor Spry, O. C. Beebe and W. R. Wallace, all of whom are deeply interested in pushing the project through.

The engineers will not give any opinion or tell what were their conclusions, but will embody their findings in a report to the Department of the Interior.

If the canal is built it will come out of Provo canyon much higher than any canals at present, traverse the foot hills above Lehi, cross Jordan River at the Point of the Mountain through a million dollar siphon, and then be turned into Cedar Valley through two big canals, one down either side of the valley.

The Utah Conservation Commission spent about $10,000 making maps, filings, surveys, and determining what the project would cost. These plans they propose turning over to the government and have it built on plans similar to those of the Strawberry project.

If built the project will cost about $7,000,000 and would irrigate over 100,000 acres of the best land in Utah.

Sidewalk Paving Commenced Monday

Messrs Featherstone and Holmstead, with a dozen assistants, commenced pouring cement on their sidewalk contract Monday. They commenced at the home of Joseph W. Gates and have finished Third West. They are using Featherstone's little junior gasoline mixer and are putting in about one block per day and expect to have their contract completed by the end of September. They are following the contour of the streets more than was done in the previous contract and are keeping the street crossings a little higher up, which is an improvement. One thousand yards of gravel have been piled on the streets and will about complete the job. In appearance their work is superior to that of the contractors who did the last job.

One Cent Rate On Orem Road

The Orem road is contemplating establishing a one cent per mile rate for school children, effective between Provo and all points in Utah county, also between Salt Lake City and all points in Salt Lake county.

Grows Alfalfa Without Water

Harry Mayer, a Cedar Valley dry farmer, seems to have solved the question of growing alfalfa without water. He has planted a tract in rows about 20 inches apart. This he has cultivated and kept the weeds out of same as you would in growing corn. The result is that he has a fine stand blossomed out and ready to harvest, though it was only planted this spring. Next year he expects to get a bumper crop. He also has a fine stand of wheat. His farm is enclosed with a rigid light fence and is located on the east side of the valley, about five miles from Fairfield.

"Royal Theatre"

THIS IS TO BE THE FUTURE NAME OF THE NEW STATE STREET PLAY HOUSE.

Hundreds of names were submitted. The judges, however, were unanimous in deciding on the word ROYAL. The name so completely typifies the magnificent building, the comfortable seating, the convenient inside arrangements, the beautiful stage and scenery, and the royal quality of pictures and entertainments that will be given.

Mrs. Sarah Austin, Lynden Fowler, Mrs. Joseph Kirkham and Jesse Russon all submitted the name Royal, and will have the fifty tickets divided between them. Others who submitted names will be given four free tickets each, so you win if you loose.

The show house will soon be ready—the scenery is beautiful—come and see us.
